51 years bringing potential to life at Rainbows

Rainbows United, Inc. was founded in 1972 as a developmental training center for children with severe, multiple disabilities who were ineligible for special education services provided through the public schools. In the late 1970's, when legislation required public schools to provide services to all children of school age regardless of their disability, Rainbows began focusing on delivery of early intervention services to children below school age and wrap-around family support services to children birth through age 21.

Legislation in the early 1990's extended mandated special education services to children beginning at age three. Rainbows continues to serve children three to five with special needs through the Community Based Education/ Training Services (CBETS) and children birth to age three through Infant/Toddler Services, known as tiny-k, in Sedgwick County, and later in Butler and Sumner Counties.

Since 1994, Rainbows has been the sponsoring agency for Connecting Point, a project of the Sedgwick County Early Childhood Coordinating Council which brings together more than 40 agencies committed to young children.

Today, Rainbows provides center based, community based and home based service options for children birth - 21 with special needs. Service components currently include hearing and vision specialty services, respite care for individuals across the life span, early intervention, high quality preschool classes, case management services, supported family living, foster care for children with special needs, therapies, mental health services, Autism waiver services, and specialized child care

Serving more than 3,701 children, birth - 21, with special needs or at risk and their families this year, Rainbows continues a deep rooted commitment to enhancing the lives of children with special needs for many years to come.
